
Department of Kinanthropology and Humanities

The department staff ensures the teaching in a broad spectrum of subjects for all study directions of the Faculty and they also take part in different European scientific-educative programs in the framework of Comenius. The scientific outcomes of the department are a part of the Development Grant of the Faculty, with the support of the The Czech Science Foundation (GACR) and also of other international projects.

They are mainly in these topics:

- physical education and sport in the historical and philosophical context of the society development
- sport phenomenon in the contemporary society, operation, and organizational forms
- physical movements premises and human motorics diagnostics
- sport sciences methodology