Accepted to the Faculty of Physical Education and Sport of Charles University

...aka welcome to the team

How to get to and around the faculty?

José Martího 31, Prague 6, 162 52, Czech Republic

 stop Nad Džbánem or Vozovna Vokovice – tram 20 and 26 or get off at metro station line A at Nádraží Veleslavín and you can walk about 1 km parking in front of the school – for a fee

The main campus of the faculty consists of many interconnected buildings and sports facilities. It can be difficult to find your way around the campus at first, so here is a brief overview of the most important places. The main entrance takes you to the largest building on campus – Block H. This is where most of the classrooms and offices are located, as well as all the important departments of the faculty, such as the Dean's Office and the Study Department. Classrooms are marked as U with an assigned number and lecture halls as P with an assigned number.

Most of the sports facilities are located on the west side of the campus. In block F you will find a newly built multipurpose gym and an elliptical gym. On the large outdoor area there are outdoor sports facilities such as an athletic oval, a football field, beach volleyball courts or also an overflow hall for ball sports.

You can find refreshments on the east side of the campus, specifically in Building E. There is a newly renovated canteen with a wide range of food and beverages, complemented by a café and a pastry shop. The latter also offers a gluten-free range.

The last important part of the faculty is the inner courtyard. This connects all parts and buildings of the campus, including its sports fields, classrooms or student dormitories. It is also an ideal place for leisure activities. Students use this place a lot for studying, relaxing or for playing netball, which can be played on the field in the middle of the courtyard.

The faculty also has other teaching spaces available, which you will gradually become familiar with. They are either in Prague, e.g. Tyršův dům, or outside of Prague, where we go for courses.

Electronic platforms used at our university

...aka how not to get lost in the digital world of the university

First, you enter one system, then you can get into the others. The systems may not be design-friendly, but they are understandable. You can't go wrong by trial and error and you will gradually find your way around.

1 System No. 1 CAS CU

The purpose of CAS (Central Authentication Service) is to simplify the way users log in to applications so that they can use the same username and password everywhere.

Login name

You can use your faculty login name as your login name, or your personal number, which is printed on your CU ID card below your photo.

Password

An initial password is generated when you visit the ISIC card issuing centre. However, this password is limited to 10 days only, so you must change it. If you do not do so, you will have to collect a new initial password. You can also set your password at any time here.

Forgotten password

If you forget your password, you can change it by entering some personal details using this link. But beware, a password set in this way is not considered trustworthy and you will lose access to some applications. To fully regain access to all apps, you will need to collect a new initial password in person from the dispensing centre.

 You can also use CAS to log in to the Eduroam Internet network (see the Internet chapter).

2 System No. 2 SIS CU
